

To all concerned,

Please take note that putting up toll booths entering CT is not favorable to those of us who work outside CT but love living here. I do understand that revenue must be generated somehow to support the state but don't penalize the state residents to do so.

My husband and myself moved here from NY several years ago but both still work in NY. When we wanted to own a home, CT was far more affordable, safer and welcoming place to live than NY. I would really hate to think that we would have to pay an extra price for living in this wonderful state.
